Derbyshire Food Festival:
17th-26th May 2008 at venues across the County

Visit Derbyshire and celebrate the delicious choice of food, drink and art from around the County with tastings, demonstrations, tutorials and fun for all the family.

The Derbyshire Food and Drink Fair is in its 7th successful year and will be set in the spectacular grounds of Bolsover Castle, just 15 minutes from the market town of Chesterfield. The Fair takes place on 17th & 18th May 2008 and is open from 10am-5pm on Saturday and 10am-4pm on Sunday.

Entrance to the Fair is £2.50 for adults, £1.50 for concessions and free for children under 16. This fee includes admission to the Castle itself and to the grounds. Celebrity chef James Tanner will be carrying out cookery demonstrations and tutorials throughout the weekend along with a handful of local chefs, who will be demonstrating their signature dishes.

There will be around 80 stalls showcasing the best of local produce with goods including meats, pies, pickles, organic produce, cakes, wines and other culinary delights. Entertainment will include live music, roving entertainers, face painting and the growing Crafts@theCastle arts section where you can purchase hand made goods or simply watch the master crafts people demonstrating their skills.

The Derbyshire Food Festival will take place from 17th-26th May 2008, food and drink establishments all across the County will be hosting special events during Festival Week.
